

Winners Announced for PSHSA's OHS for Young Workers #StudentChallenge

TORONTO, ON – PSHSA is pleased to announce the winners of its first annual Young Worker #StudentChallenge. The contest invited post-secondary students across Ontario to conceptualize innovative and creative solutions, resources or services for increasing occupational health and safety awareness and reducing workplace injuries and illnesses among young workers. Finalists were asked to present their concepts to a panel of industry professionals, key stakeholders and subject matter experts earlier this month.

- 1st Place: Thibieya Arudpiragasam, York University
Health & Safety Engagement Mobile Application
4-month internship opportunity at PSHSA
- 2nd Place: Janakiraman Muthaiah, Confederation College
Promoting Health & Safety with Snapchat
$750 scholarship
- 3rd Place: Roberto Lopez, York University
Injury Prevention through Proximity Detection
$500 scholarship
- 4th Place: Brooke Lalonde, York University
S.A.F.E.T.Y. Training Mobile Application & Compliance Process
$250 scholarship

Congratulations to the winners and thank you to all our applicants for contributing your inspiring ideas for improving health and safety in our province. Because of you, PSHSA's inaugural #StudentChallenge was a great success. Please stay tuned to our website for additional details regarding next year's #StudentChallenge and other young worker initiatives.

For more information, please contact:

Amanda Allan, Lead, Market Research & Development
Email: aallan@pshsa.ca | Phone: 416-250-2135